

---

Position Title:           Professor of Modern Chinese Political Economy

Organization:           Schwarzman College at Tsinghua University, Beijing, China

---

ABOUT THE ORGANIZATION

Designed to inspire the next generation of global leaders, the Schwarzman Scholars program is the most significant of its kind since the Rhodes Trust was founded in 1902. With a nearly $600 million endowment, it will also be the single largest philanthropic effort ever undertaken in China by largely international donors.

The 100-200 scholars chosen annually for this highly selective program work towards a one year Master's Degree in Global Affairs at Tsinghua University in Beijing — one of China's most prestigious universities. As individuals who want to have a positive impact on the world, Schwarzman Scholars are selected based on their academic credentials, extracurricular interests and leadership potential.

POSITION SUMMARY

Schwarzman College, in collaboration with the appropriate school or department at Tsinghua University, is recruiting for a tenured or tenure-track Professor of Modern Chinese Political Economy. We are recruiting rising stars or established faculty and will consider appointments at the Assistant, Associate, and Full Professor level. The appointment will be made jointly by Schwarzman College and the relevant Tsinghua School or department with primary teaching responsibility at Schwarzman College.

We are recruiting for a full-time position to be given to one individual. Faculty appointment at the Assistant Professor level will be for an initial term of three years with promotion to Associate Professor in line with Tsinghua University standard review and promotion procedures. All appointments will be provided competitive pay and access to seed research funds.

MAJOR RESPONSIBILITIES

The Professor of Modern Chinese Political Economy shall work full-time at Tsinghua University and teach at Schwarzman College and shall have no other full-time obligations outside of Tsinghua University.

We are seeking expert scholars in modern China. We are seeking excellent teachers and scholars with an interdisciplinary focus and whose work is related to global affairs. The appointed professor will teach or co-anchor the core China course at the Schwarzman Scholars program, “Forty Years of China’s Economic, Political, and Social Reform.” Seed research funding will be available to support the appointee’s scholarly research and career development.

SKILLS, EXPERIENCE, AND QUALIFICATIONS

The following qualifications and credentials will be considered in appointing the Professor of Modern Chinese Political Economy.

1. Scholar with a strong record of teaching, research and publications at the assistant, associate or full professor level. Recent Ph.D.’s will be considered for the assistant professor level.
2. A doctoral degree in history, economics, sociology, public policy, business, political science, or other relevant academic area is required;
3. Expertise in any of the following areas: China’s economic reforms, China’s social policy, China’s political institutions, China’s political history.
4. For candidates who are Chinese citizens currently based in China, significant time spent outside of China, such as studying and working;
5. Fluency in English (for purposes of teaching, research and communications);
6. International experience and knowledge and experience working in China is helpful. Educational background in the United States and/or Europe is preferred.

APPLICATION

To apply, please send an application cover letter, a curriculum vitae (including a list of publications and courses taught), and the names and contact information of three referees to facultyjobs@schwarzmanscholars.org (subject line: SC Professor of Modern Chinese Political Economy) before the deadline of December 15, 2020.